Library Building For Keystone Slated In Post-War Plans

Come peace and Keystone may get a county library building in the present post-war building plan as announced this week by Supervisor John Anson Ford, chairman of the board's library committee, is carried out.

At present county branch libraries are operated in rented buildings, few of which were built for library purposes, and without regard to proper lighting facilities and other features which will be incorporated in the county-owned buildings.

The plan includes buildings for Avalon, Hawthorne, Huntington Park, Manhattan Beach, Maywood, San Fernando, San Gabriel, Downey, La Canada, Lakewood Village, Montrose, San Dimas, City Terrace and Keystone.

The Keystone library is at present located in a store room at Dolores and Carson sts. and is open Tuesday and Fridays.

Justice Court Seeks Volunteer Jurors Mrs. Bertha Wilcox, clerk of the Inglewood Justice Court, is making up a new register of jurors for the current year. The registry is due to be completed March 15. Anyone wishing to serve should notify her in writing, giving name, address and telephone number. Mrs. Wilcox may be addressed at Inglewood Justice Court, 101 1/2 South Greville, Inglewood.

You Still Have Time to Contribute Books to Servicemen at Outposts

To our servicemen stationed at lonely outposts over the globe, where any form of entertainment is at a premium, a good book is worth its weight in gold.

But be sure the books you donate for our fighting men are good books, says the State Council of Defense, in urging participation in the Victory Book drive which ends Friday. Books may be left at the Torrance Red Cross headquarters, corner of Post and Cravens ave.

A too-large percentage of volumes offered have come out of many years' hiding in the attic-old doctor books, outmoded scientific tomes, children's books.

If you think a Marine on Guadalcanal will appreciate receiving a copy of the Rover Boys, or a soldier in Iceland will whoop for joy when he is handed a volume entitled, "Barbara Sets Out for Boarding School" you have another guess coming.

The Red Cross, USO, and American Librarians' Association, organizations conducting the Victory Book drive, emphasize that it's quality and not quantity that is important. "Give a book you want to keep yourself," is their slogan.

Start searching your bookshelves now, or better yet, go to your favorite bookstore and buy something new and timely, because the present Victory Book drive ends tomorrow.

Walterian Injured In Auto Collision

L. E. King, 3902 Pacific Coast highway, Walteria, and J. H. Price, Hynes, were reported to have received minor injuries in a collision Monday night at Young st. and Sanford ave., Wilmington, between a car driven by J. R. Boswell, 52, Long Beach, and another machine which the driver abandoned.

Officers are checking a claim by the registered owner of the abandoned car that it had been stolen shortly before the collision occurred. King and Price said the driver appeared intoxicated.

Navy Mothers Install Officers

Mrs. Marjorie Lovell, mother of four sons in the Navy, was installed last Sunday as commander of the Little Hills Navy Mothers Club, succeeding Mrs. Anna Long, who has a son, son-in-law, and brother in the Navy. Mrs. Long has served two terms as commander.

Installation ceremonies were held in the recreation hall, 2415 Arlington ave., Torrance, with a Long Beach Navy Mothers Club acting as installing officers. William Lepper, specialist, 1/c, U. S. N., spoke on women serving in the Navy.

Other officers installed with Mrs. Lovell were Vita Paxton, first vice commander; Sarah Steadman, second vice commander; Merle Osborne, adjutant; Edith Marriott, finance officer; Pearl Sutherland, chaplain; Vera Paige and Agnes Fleck, color bearers; Sallie Powell and Ola Dowell, matron-at-arms; Mabel Slover, judge advocate.

Mothers of men in the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines are eligible to join the club.

British Motorists Burn Coal In Cars Serving Home Front

A mile on a pound of coal! Curtailment of gasoline in England has produced a "gas producing" accessory for motor vehicles rolling on Great Britain's home front. The weird contraption resembles a couple of small water boilers attached to the top of an automobile, manufacturers gas from coal, coke and charcoal, and is being urged as a substitute for gasoline tanks. The "Gas Producer" costs $600 and up.

Drastically curtailed ever since the start of the war in September, 1939, gasoline supplies for motorists have been cut even further for the current three-month period—December, January and February. British motorists are required to keep a detailed monthly log, recording the date of each trip, the starting point and the destination, the mileage shown by the speedometer and the purpose of the journey. These logs must be shown to policemen on demand as well as to the gasoline rationing authorities when new rations are sought at the close of each period.

Aged Walteria Dog Succumbs To Pneumonia

"Sandy," aged sheep dog who for 10 years has guarded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stonecker of Nece ave., is dead, victim of what appeared to be pneumonia. He awakened the household one morning recently to inform the Stoneckers he was in bad shape and, despite their efforts to restore him to good health, he gradually declined. "Sandy" was found starving 10 years ago in Los Angeles and taken to the home of relatives where the Stoneckers were visiting. Once fed and given water, he went about the house offering his right paw to whoever would shake it and showed his lasting gratitude by adopting his rescuer. He was then a grown dog and his age was never known.

MUSICAL WHATZISS—Texas Jim Lewis appears to be rather dubious of his famed "Hootin'-Nanie" but he really knows how to get rhythm out of the gadget as he will demonstrate Saturday night at the County Barn Dance in Wilmington.

Opening a series of Harbor District County Barn Dances, Foreman Phillips will bring two of the nation's outstanding Western bands to Wilmington hall in Wilmington tomorrow and Saturday nights. Friday night Spade Cooley and his Barn Dance Boys will entertain and on Saturday night The Texans with Hester from Oklahoma, national champion cowgirl yodeler, will perform.

Both nights will be tops in entertainment. Foreman Phillips plans a continuous season of Western dances at Wilmington every Friday night, and every other Saturday night, with top Western bands scheduled to play each week.

RECORD NUMBER Inmates confined in California institutions for mental cases passed the 24,000 mark in January, the highest number in history, the state department of institutions has announced.
